

Mayone's Hat First in Mayoral Ring

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON
Campaign '69 opened in Kingston Monday night as city Republican chairman John R. Mayone announced that he was resigning his chairmanship and seeking his party's nomination for mayor.

Some 50 persons, including 30 Republican committeemen, were on hand at the Surrogate's court room of the Ulster County Office Building to hear Mayone say, "At this time I wish to officially and publicly declare . . . my intention to seek the 1969 Republican nomination for mayor of the city of Kingston."

Mayone continued, "Since I do not believe it right or proper for a city chairman to also be a candidate for office, I have forwarded to Honorable John B. Sterley, chairman of the Ulster County Republican Committee, a letter containing my resignation as Kingston Republican chairman, to become effective as soon as a successor is named."

Committee Appointed

Immediate steps were taken to find a successor for Mayone with the appointment of a committee, by Mayone, to recommend names to the full committee which will meet next Monday night for an official vote.

The committee is chaired by former mayoralty candidate C. John Bechtold and includes Clarence Raichle, a county legislator; John Machione, the Common Council's only Republican member and James DeCicco, a senior committeeman of the party.

Two other committees were named to screen candidates for the legislator and for mayor, alderman-at-large and city judge. The legislator committee is headed by Mayone and includes Raymond Armater, former 11th Ward alderman, Thomas Baggett and Edmund Ashdown.

S. James Matthews was named to chair a committee for the selection of mayor, alderman-at-large and city judge and is joined by James Martin, a former committeeman from the old 12th Ward and Machione.

Howard C. St. John, former city chairman and county district attorney, opened the meeting with a call for a total effort from the Committeemen this year. "We can win the city," he said. No candidate is unbeatable. Any mayor that has been in office for two terms has made enough mistakes and stepped on enough corns to be beaten."

Need to Reorganize

St. John spoke of the need to reorganize "from time to time" and mentioned "lazy committeemen." "Put out the effort needed," he said, "and the rewards will be equally compensating."

Financing of that effort also was discussed in detail with presentations by James Rapp, chairman of the finance committee and David Rylance and Martin, members of that committee.

Rylance announced plans for a "fun and social party" at the New York State Armory on Manor Avenue on April 12 from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m. He prefaced his remarks by saying, "if anyone is going to run this year, we'll need money."

The committee has set a goal of a minimum of 600 persons and will have tickets available at the meeting next Monday night when a new chairman is expected to be named.

The party hopes to raise $2,000 at the April 12th event and another $6,000 to $8,000 at a dinner at the Governor Clinton Hotel on Sept. 13.

Tentative Commitments

Rylance said that "tentative commitments" have been made by Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr., State Senator Jay P. Rolison Jr. and Assemblyman H. Clark Bell to attend the event. "We don't want you to just go out and sell tickets for this party," Rylance said. "We want your physical presence. This will be a chance to meet your fellow Republican enrollees along with candidates for alderman and legislator."

Mayone also announced that the city convention will be held on March 18 followed by the county convention on March 21. Primary Day will be June 17. The city committee will nominate its legislative candidates on the 17th and present them to the county convention. Aldermen will be chosen on a ward to ward basis, either by the committeemen or by caucuses in respective wards.

Mayone admitted that he was "dumping a tremendous load" on the incoming chairman but added that a man could not do both jobs properly, acting as city chairman and running for office.

A number of persons were opposed to Mayone's stepping down with less than four weeks remaining before the city convention. Judy Petro urged Mayone to "stay on until after the city convention. Don't act in haste."

DeCicco asked for a clarification of what the job of city chairman would entail for the new man. Said Mayone, "If a guy is waiting for the thing to be handed to him with all sorts of guarantees, he's not the man for the job."

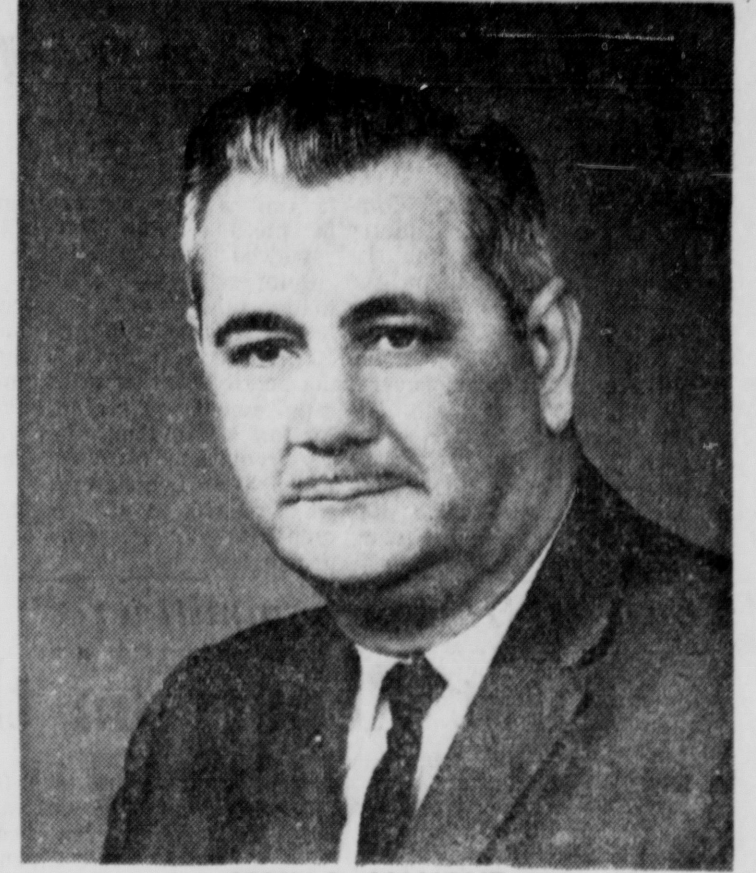

Machione said, "Get the man who wants the job and knows what he's getting into."

No Recommendations

Mayone said he would not make recommendations to the selection committee although he "had in mind several good men for the job."

Commenting on his own record as city chairman over the past four years, Mayone said, "It is, of course, not for me to judge the results of my tenure as chairman. But, in all good conscience, I do feel that I have the right to affirm that I have given my very best to this job."

Mayone will serve until a new chairman is elected.

Mayor Outlines Timetable For Downtown City Hall

KINGSTON
A new city hall in downtown Kingston completed by Dec. 15, 1969?

That's what Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan said today as he outlined a timetable for The Freeman.

Briefly, the mayor's plans are:
● March 15—All department heads and the Common Council will meet and discuss plans for the new city hall.

● May 15—Plans and specifications completed and forwarded to Architect Albert E. Milliken for design.

● June 1—Construction of the new city hall goes out to bid.

- July 10—Bids are opened.
- Aug. 10—Construction to begin.
- Dec. 15—Construction completed.

Special

The mayor did not list approval of a bond issue by the Common Council in his timetable. In order for construction to begin on Aug. 10, the Council would have to pass a bond issue at its regular meeting date, Aug. 5.

Garraghan expects to build a 29,000 square foot structure which will include 6,000 feet for Civil Defense, for $750,000, including equipment and the architect's fee, the latter which should be about $50,000.

He is presently negotiating with the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency for more land. He wants four and a half acres. He now has 3.099 acres. The mayor said he expects to use the extra land for a building housing a day nursery and facilities for senior citizen recreation.

Garraghan said he has been working on plans for his new city hall since he returned from Oneida Friday night after viewing that city's new municipal building.

"We've got a pretty good idea right now of what it's going to be," Garraghan told The Freeman. "We're going to use brick facing with interior block walls. It'll be two stories high with a full basement. Civil Defense will finance most of the basement which will cut down the overall cost of the building for the city."

The mayor even had ideas on what the plaque in the lobby would say. He suggested, "Dedicated to Joe Epstein (former Sixth Ward Democratic alderman) and the aldermen who worked so hard to fulfill Moonshot's dream."

(Garraghan occasionally refers to himself as "Moonshot"). The aldermen have already approved the first stage of Garraghan's plans for a city hall in Broadway East by voting 10-3 in January to hire Milliken for $10,000 and buy the land from the urban renewal agency for $25,000. However, that is considered a narrow margin since nine votes would be needed for approval of a bond issue and that the entire Common Council will be up for election in November.

Garraghan emphatically ruled out another term to see his city hall completed. "I've worked like a dog for this city," he said. "Almost killed myself. I've had it. Anyone who asks me to run again is no friend of mine."

The Democratic city committee will meet Thursday night at the VFW Hall. Chairman Thomas R. Lyle said Monday that he is going into the meeting with the presumption that Garraghan will be a candidate for reelection.

Britons Hail Nixon As Protests Flop

LONDON (UPI)—President Nixon lunched today with Queen Elizabeth II in the gilded splendor of Buckingham Palace, a brief, relaxing break in his arduous eight-day European visit and his meetings with Britain's leaders in their common quest of peace.

What had been billed as the biggest anti-Nixon demonstration in Britain outside the palace flopped miserably. Several dozen members of the "Hot Reception for Nixon Committee" shouted "down with Nixon!" They threw two rotten apples but the apples fell far short and the shouts were not heard by Nixon.

By contrast, several thousands of Britons and foreign tourists cheered the President as he entered the great stone palace courtyard in a limousine with Prime Minister Harold Wilson.

The 42-year-old Queen, accompanied by her husband, Prince Philip, met Nixon with a warm handshake and a smile as he entered the 661-room palace past red coated guardsmen in fur busbies.

Nixon, in a motorcade escorted by motorcycles, made the brief drive from No. 10 Downing Street where he had more than two hours of talks with Wilson and other British officials, to the palace. Along the route were the largest crowds that have turned out so far for his three-day-old European visit.

They were five deep in some areas. Several thousand waited in front of Buckingham Palace. Generally they were reserved, clapping politely and occasionally cheering.

Before Nixon left Downing Street, a London magistrate sentenced one of the 17 persons arrested at Monday night's anti-Nixon demonstration to six months in jail for tripping a policeman. Another was sentenced to two months in jail for carrying a two-foot-long stick of wood and allegedly threatening to kill police on duty outside Nixon's hotel.

The demonstration today was such a fizzle that a spokesman for the "Hot Reception" committee complained, "there must have been a slip up in the organization. No doubt some other people will turn up later on for the marches." Instead, a small handful chanted "Nixon out . . . Nixon out."

BULLETIN Players, Owners Reach Accord

NEW YORK (AP)—Agreement has been reached in the baseball dispute between players and owners, it was learned today.

Official announcement was expected soon from the representatives of the players and owners who were meeting at a midtown hotel.

Both parties were in the process of ratifying the agreement which will permit boycotting players to report for spring training.

Might Reconsider On New Plant Site

By DENNIS R. CARO

NEW PALTZ
The New Palitz Village Board Monday, in a surprising reversal of form, agreed to investigate the possibility of moving the site of the proposed new secondary sewage treatment plant further away from historic Huguenot Street.

Although the board had previously taken the position that those opposing the present site because such a facility would detract from the beauty of a National Treasure were in the minority, the submission of a 300 signature petition seemed to give the governmental unit pause.

The petition, called an "informal national poll of village residents," was "not meant as criticism" of the board's previous action, but called for a postponement of "present considerations" until plans and cost estimates can be made available on other possible sites and the people can be allowed to judge their feasibility.

Kenneth E. Hasbrouck, who heads the Huguenot Historical Society, agreed and also suggested that the board provide a cost breakdown for the facility as currently planned. He also wondered about the possibility of allowing village residents to decide on the eventual site by a referendum.

The board will ask engineers Brinnier and Larios of Kingston to provide cost estimates for additional sites. Mayor Henry W. DuBois pointed out that sites directly across the Wallkill River and about a quarter of a mile to the north of the Hu-

8th Try For Glusker

ELLENVILLE
Mayor Eugene Glusker was renominated for his eighth term as mayor of the southern Ulster Village of Ellenville Monday night.

Seeking reelection with Glusker is Walter V. Grey who was nominated for a second term as trustee and a newcomer to the political arena, Abraham Lubliner who also seeks a trustee post.

Mayor Glusker was nominated at a party caucus by Robert V. Stapleton who spoke of the mayor as "first a citizen and secondly a politician."

guguenot Street site had been expected to cost an additional $1 million, but that this was only a rough estimate.

DuBois said the purchase of other sites was considered when the village originally decided to locate the plant on the flood plain below Huguenot Street more than 10 years ago.

Because he went on, the village had intended to build the expanded facility below Huguenot Street all along, no cost estimates for other potential sites are currently available.

In other action, the board approved a resolution correcting a previous resolution dealing with the terms of the village trustees. In 1962 the board had extended the trustee's terms from two to four years, but had neglected to provide a three year "interim" term so that vacancies would occur every two years.

The new resolution, which is subject to permissive referendum, provides that the 4-year terms of Harold Phillips and William George, which expire in March, 1970, will create vacancies with a three-year term, but thereafter will continue under the present system of four year terms.

Homemade Chemistry—A Connelly Boy Hurt

By WALTER S. CLARK

CONNELLY
A 16-year-old youth was seriously injured and burned at 4:15 p. m. Monday when an explosion occurred as he was experimenting with chemicals in the bedroom at his home on First Street in this community.

Donald Fisher, a junior at Kingston High School, was alone in the room at the time he was mixing red phosphorus and potassium chlorate, a compound used chiefly as an oxidizing agent in matches, fireworks and explosives in a glass flask. The youth had been experimenting for some time when suddenly the mixture of the two compounds caused a loud explosion.

The youth ran from the room, severely injured and burned, according to a report of State Police Investigator Roger Gardiner, who went to the home to investigate. It was reported the chemical reaction resulting from the mixture caused the explosion.

Stunned by the effects of the blast that caused the shattered glass from the flask and the burns that were caused by the chemical mixture, the Fisher youth summoned aid.

He was rushed to Kingston Hospital where emergency treatment was administered by physicians. His condition was listed as serious. Authorities said Fisher suffered numerous blast burns of the face, arms and chest. He also sustained multiple deep lacerations of the face, chest and arms and the middle finger of his left hand was blown off by the force of the explosion.

After treatment at the hospital in Kingston, Fisher was rushed to the Albany Medical Center for further treatment. A spokesman described the youth's condition as satisfactory this morning.

According to reports, neighbors in the area heard the explosion and it was some time before they learned where it had occurred.

State police said the investigation would be continued to learn additional details of the mishap.

Tax Base Study Committee Faces A Heavy Agenda at Meet Tonight

By ALBERT J. CAWEIN

KINGSTON — The Tax Base Study Committee of the County Legislature has a full agenda for its meeting 7:30 tonight in the legislature chambers.

Legislator Clarence Raichle, R-Kingston, chairman, said the committee will cover several topics including two resolutions referred to his committee at the February meeting of the Legislature, and the tax-mapping program which has been under study by the committee for some time.

A resolution calling for a study of the possibility of levying a one per cent gross income tax on utilities will be reviewed to determine if recommendation should be made to the State Legislature.

Another resolution referred to committee asks for a study on the possible easing of eligibility requirements of senior citizens for tax exemptions. This would also require a recommendation to the State Legislature.

In regard to the inventory map and revaluation of all properties in the county,

Chairman Raichle has said before that this particular phase of legislation is the most important that he has worked on over the past several years.

If Ulster County is to grow and prosper, Raichle said, it must attract new industries. This can only be accomplished through a fair and equitable tax structure. Without it the county will be by-passed and eventually stagnate.

Citing an example, Raichle said, presently some properties are assessed at 20 per cent and 30 per cent of the present market value, while many are assessed at 40, 50 and 60 per cent of value, with some going higher.

The Tax Base Study Committee chairman said exempt properties must also be studied. He said we must have a fair and uniform rate, possibly 50 per cent throughout the county. This would clear up 22 different ways of assessing, and this would subsequently benefit Ulster County more than any other project, he said.

Citing the present school dilemma, Raichle said, the schools use the assessment level after it has been established by the State Board of Equalization and Assessments. School revenues are tied to school district growth in terms of physical plant and administrative costs, he said. If new schools are built and staffed, school revenue needs and taxes will increase regardless of whether the county is revalued or not.

After a tax equalization program is completed, and the county sets the rate, and the county-wide rate is confirmed by the State Board of Equalization and Assessments, Raichle said, if school revenue needs stay constant and assessed valuation rises, then most likely the school tax will hold the line or decrease.

The Tax Base Study Committee, in addition to Raichle, includes, Melvin Mones, R-Kingston; C. Freeman Lasher, R-Saugerties; Ernest J. Gardner and Philip H. Davis, both Republicans, 11th District; Orrie R. Riehl, D-Kingston; Brian R. White, R-9th District; and Richard D. Nace, R-2nd District.

Town of Hurley Committee:

First Report on the Proposed Airport

By SHANE CROSBY

HURLEY

The first report of a citizen's committee formed in the Town of Hurley to investigate the proposed location of a county airport in the township was presented at the Hurley Town Board meeting Monday night and "seriously questioned the depth of the study" made by the Airport Commission.

Hurley Supervisor Robert Schneller said the committee's first report followed a letter from the office of Audit and Control of New York State that detailed costs and incomes from airports operated by counties in the state.

White Paper Due
The committee was formed following the January meeting of the Town Board and is expected to produce a "White Paper" on the proposed airport at the completion of its investigation.

The committee reported that although a few county airports are producing a profit from day to day operations, debt service and improvement expenditures were taking their toll. They found that airports working at a profit are in "wealthy" counties.

Broome County Airport, ac-ording to the committee's findings, serves a three city area and "should have been" working at a profit. It said expenses ran $224,000 for last year and that a net loss of $63,000 was recorded.

The supervisor said any losses would be carried by the county and would not be offset by outside assistance. He said the Airport Commission was not looking at the possible "tax burden" the facility would cause on the county.

A report filed by the Airport Commission indicated in January that the location of the airport should be in the Town of Hurley in the Catskill State Park. Local reaction to the site had included concern over the rural and historical aspects of the town, after the commission's report was made known.

Challenging Need
The citizens' committee is going beyond those aspects according to Schneller, and is challenging the "need" of an airport for the county.

He said the full report, in the form of a "white paper," would be presented to the commission and the County Legislature after the Hurley committee completes its investigation.

Rockefeller to Run For Another Term

By CHARLES DUMAS

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller reaffirmed today his intention of seeking a fourth term, saying he wanted to correct "an impression that has been abroad" that he really did not intend to run.

"I have every intention of running again in 1970," the Republican governor told a news conference.

At the same time, in response to questions, Rockefeller said there was no truth to reports that Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson, his close friend and long time political ally, was conspiring politically against New York Mayor John V. Lindsay.

There have been reports that Wilson has been urging State Sen. John J. Marchi, R-Statens Island, to oppose Lindsay in this year's mayoral primary.

The theory was said to be that Wilson believed that, if Lindsay were removed from the political scene, Wilson would have a better chance of running for governor in 1970—should Rockefeller step out.

"I frankly resent the implication that the lieutenant governor is mounting and operating this campaign," said Rockefeller. "It's not true."

Rockefeller noted that he had said before that he hoped Lindsay would be nominated and elected again. The governor said that still is his position, but he added that he would not take sides in any primary contests.

Rockefeller opened the news conference by saying:

"I have one comment on the tea leaf readers who say I'm not going to run again—they're wrong."

Later, under questioning, he said he hoped Wilson and Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz would run again with him.

The fourth statewide office is held by a Democrat, State Comptroller Arthur Levitt.

On other subjects, Rockefeller had these comments:

—He has reached no agreement with the legislature's Republican leaders yet on alternatives to his budget proposal for a five per cent cutback from the normally higher level of state spending next year. He said "you've got to have a total program" before agreement can be achieved on specific parts, such as school aid.

—He understood the position of persons protesting his proposed cutback in welfare programs, which is part of his economy program. But, he said, "where they really ought to go is to Washington" to help him in his bid for more federal aid.

Named President

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Dr. William Haddon Jr., former head of the National Highway Safety Bureau, has been named president of the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety. The institute serves various auto insurance companies in developing highway safety campaigns.

and a federal takeover of the costly welfare programs.

—He was "concerned and understanding" of the complaints of the Civil Service Employees Association, which has threatened to strike against the state if contract negotiations are not resumed. He said he hoped "with time this thing will resolve itself without recourse to illegal action."

ESDC POST — Robert L. Bain Jr., of Highland, president of the Kingston Newspaper Guild has been elected secretary-treasurer of the Empire State District Council of the American Newspaper Guild (AFL-CIO) at the Council's annual election meeting, held in Rochester.

The ESDC which meets quarterly, represents 10,000 working newspaper men and women in New York State and in Hudson County, New Jersey. A past vice-president of the council, Bain has assumed the duties of his new office. He is employed as an advertising salesman for The Kingston Daily Freeman.

Frank Jaquinto of Albany was elected president of the council.

Dutchess GI Killed In Vietnam

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Four more upstate New York servicemen have been killed in action in Vietnam.

The Defense Department announced Monday the deaths of Army Spec. 4 Richard R. Hurlie, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Hurlie of Poughkeepsie, Army Spec. 4 Duane C. Romeo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Romeo of Apalachin, and Marine Pfc. Michael A. Clute, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce M. Clute of Hindsdale.

Army 1st Lt. Stephen A. Shortall, 24, son of Mrs. Joseph R. Shortall Jr. of Webster, also was reported killed in action. He previously had been listed as missing.

DIMES ADD UP—Leaders of the March of Dimes Mothers March in Kingston are shown at City Hall Sunday counting contributions. The total so far has exceeded $1,200 with several more districts to report. Participants include (L) Meyer Kaplan, campaign chairman; Daniel Cronan, city chairman, and Mrs. John Devine, co-chairman of the Mothers March. (Freeman photo by Haines)

Human Waves of Reds

30 Marines Are Killed

SAIGON (UPI)—North Vietnamese soldiers sprang from the jungle darkness today and in human waves smashed into the two U.S. Marine camps just below the Demilitarized Zone, killing 30 Leathernecks and wounding 115.

Part of the 40,000-man guerrilla threat to Saigon battled U.S. and South Vietnamese soldiers guarding the city, despite one of the heaviest Allied bombardments of the war into the capital's "rocket belt." Shock waves from the Allied bombs and shells rolled across Saigon all night.

A U.S. spokesman said 2,000 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese had perished in the offensive since Sunday. But the Reds gave no sign they were ready to give it up. A Viet Cong broadcast said the reprisal offensive showed how strong the Communists are.

U.S. 25th Infantry Division soldiers at gun bases protecting Saigon killed 98 guerrillas in two battles on approach routes from Cambodia. In one, the Communists fired tear and nausea gas into the American base but the wind blew it back at them. U.S. losses were light, spokesmen said.

Wave upon wave of B52 bombers splattered 1.4 million pounds of explosives into the burgeoning Red buildup which U.S. intelligence says has an ultimate goal—Saigon. American cavalrymen found 200 long-range rockets hidden on the outskirts of the capital.

Screaming and with 10-pound satchel charges, strapped to their bodies, North Vietnamese soldiers followed a thunderous mortar barrage into the two U.S. Marine gun bases near the "Rockpile," two miles below the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ).

The battle began at 4 a.m. and by 6:30 it was over. Bodies littered the ravaged Marine camps.

The Marine losses brought to 150 Americans dead and more than 300 wounded in the Communist offensive since Sunday.

South Vietnamese headquarters said 340 of its soldiers had perished and 1,063 had suffered wounds in fighting the offensive. Almost half that many South Vietnamese civilians had been killed or wounded.

Today's rocket and mortar barrages slammed into dozens of Allied camps around Saigon and into such U.S. bastions as the air bases at Danang, Chu Lai and Kontum, and the cities of Pleiku, Ban Me Thuot and Quang Tri.

Ky Back, Hints Harder Line

PARIS (UPI)—South Vietnamese President Nguyen Cao Ky said today he has discussed with President Nixon "many new ideas" about the later this week. He hinted at a harder Saigon line in the peace talks.

Arriving back from Saigon to direct his country's negotiating team at the peace talks, Ky would not say if he expected the United States also team at the peace talks. Ky said it was "very likely" he would meet with Nixon to coordinate Allied strategy at the talks.

"I am bringing many new ideas in my pocket," he said. Nixon is to arrive in Paris Friday on his European tour. The South Vietnamese leader said his diplomats would tell the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong not to expect concessions from Saigon, particularly in the wake of the Communist shellings of South Vietnamese cities.

Ky also reiterated his warning that if the shellings go on, South Vietnam would consider resuming the Allied air raids on North Vietnam. A spokesman for the Viet Cong warned that the United States would be committing a "serious error" if it resumed bombing North Vietnam.

Drive Not Consistent With Bomb Pact

LONDON (UPI)—A White House spokesman today called the Communists' new Vietnam offensive "not consistent" with the U.S.-Hanoi understanding that halted the bombing of North Vietnam and opened the way for peace talks in Paris. President Nixon's aides kept him up to the minute on the latest developments in Vietnam, where Monday night and today the Communists attacked 50 more cities and military camps.

Unmanned Mariner 6 Mars-Bound

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Lugging two powerful television cameras, Mariner 6 sped on course toward Mars today. The unmanned Mariner cast a glow visible for miles Monday night as it rocketed from Cape Kennedy, Fla. Scientists tracked it for 4½ hours, then locked its navigation equipment on two guide points, the sun and Canopus, the brightest star in the southern hemisphere.

Ahead lay a five-month, 226.3 million mile journey. Controllers at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena plan to fine-tune Mariner's course in about four days. "We don't expect to determine whether life exists on Mars...but we may be able to establish whether it could exist or possibly even whether it did," said Dr. Robert Leighton of the California Institute of Technology. He's chief scientist for the television experiments. "At the worst, we should be able to kill a lot of old legends—such as the ones that say the dark lines seen by some astronomers are really canals carrying water from polar ice caps to cases in the desert, or the ones that say the vast regions that change color every spring are vegetation."

If all goes as planned, the 901-pound, windmill-shaped craft will sweep about 2,000 miles over Mars, its cameras and infrared equipment seeking water vapor clouds, dust storms and vegetation. From that height the camera could pick out an object 900 feet across.

Man's closest look at Mars' surface came by way of Mariner 4 in 1965. From a height of 6,100 miles its less powerful camera showed a landscape pocked like earth's moon.

On March 24, Mariner 7 will rocket toward Mars. The twin

Plattekill CA Meets Tonight

CLINTONDALE — The newly formed Plattekill Township Civic Association will meet at the Clintondale Civic Center at 7:30 tonight for the purpose of adopting a set of by-laws and inaugurating a campaign designed to secure changes in the town assessment roll.

"As it stands now," acting secretary Mrs. Marie Reilly of Modena said Monday, "Grievance Day is a farce. It's a big joke."

"The assessors rule this town and when we go in to see them individually I guess we don't make a big enough noise."

Mrs. Reilly said the Association was formed in the hope that a mass call for changes would be heard. "We don't want to be bitter about it," she said. "We're going to try to work with him (Eldred Smith, chairman of the Town Board of Assessors)."

"But when 44 people (current Association membership) get together and start comparing property values you can see that something's wrong."

She said the Association intends to set up a meeting with Smith to discuss these differences in property values.

A Task Force of Rep. Fish Approved as Clearing House

NEW PALTZ: Congressional District was approved at the organizational luncheon held recently. The task force is one of several special interest groups conservation information and being formed by Rep. Hamilton Fish Jr. "as a means of improving the flow of information between my office and the interests of the people of our congressional district."

The luncheon was attended by 24 leaders in conservation, beautification, historic preservation and sportsmen organizations from the five-county area.

Attending from Ulster County were: Daniel Smiley, Lake Mohonk; Mr. and Mrs. Chester Glunt, Saugerties; Mrs. John Jacobson, New Paltz; William Lloyd, Highland; Mrs. Robert Pyle, Kenneth Habrout, Donald Ross, High Falls and George Lahl, Kingston.

Meanwhile, Congressman Fish also appeared at Ulster County Community College in Stone Ridge and labeled the 91st Congress "a Congress of initiative and reform."

Fish pointed out that while the 91st Congress is still young there is a clear indication already of reform initiatives on the part of the legislators. Rep. Fish called President Nixon's visit of European capitals "another sign of a move towards action rather than reaction." "It is another indication that we as a nation will start listening again to the voices of other free and sovereign nations," he added.

Paltz Meeting

Health Pavilion At Lions Expo Again

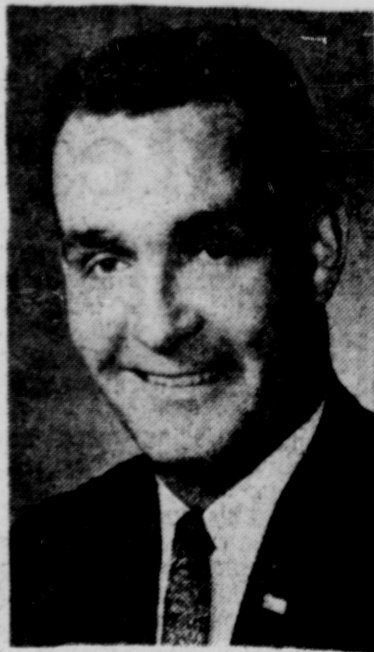

The 22nd annual Kingston Lions Club Exposition will again include the popular health pavilion offered for the first time at the 1968 event.

This was announced today by Thomas Henebery, chairman of the 1969 Expo slated April 29 through May 3 at the State Armory, Manor Avenue.

The Expo, including health, home show and sports-a-rama will again offer the services of the New York State Health Department and various local health agencies including the Ulster County TB and Health Association, Ulster County Health Dept., the New York State Diabetes Association and the Ulster County Medical Society with the cooperation of the Bureau of Chronic Disease of the State Health Dept.

Free health service screening to persons over 21 years of age was the feature last year and will be repeated.

A new highlight this year will be dental checkup through the courtesy of the Ulster-Greene Dental Study Club.

GOP Plan for School Busing Gets Opposition From Governor

By BRUCE B. DETLEFSEN

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A Republican-drawn measure that would prohibit busing of school children as a means of achieving school integration was up against disapproval from Gov. Rockefeller today as the legislature shuttled it toward floor action.

The Republican governor came out against the proposed constitutional amendment Monday in response to a question raised at the annual legislative seminar of the State Council of Churches.

When one of the Protestant leaders objected to the anti-busing measure, Rockefeller said, "I entirely agree with you."

Less than a week ago, under intensive questioning at a news conference, Rockefeller had refused to discuss the issue, saying it was his policy not to comment on matters before the legislature.

Talking to the church group, however, the governor conceded that, "I don't think we ought to arbitrarily tie our hands."

His remarks coincided with behind-the-scenes maneuvering over the course the measure would take in the Republican-controlled legislature.

The question was whether the Senate or Assembly would get the first whack at it. At one point, it was said that the Assembly would consider the measure first and then send it to the Senate. But it appeared late Monday that signals had been changed.

In any case, the proposal would not come before Rockefeller, since changes in the State Constitution do not require his signature but need approval by two separately elected legislatures and the state's voters.

The governor's judgment on the matter can be expected to carry substantial weight, however.

As proposed, the measure would bar the commissioner of education and appointed school boards from considering such factors as race and color in assigning pupils to public schools.

It therefore would reverse the policy the State Education Department has pursued since 1963, when Education Commissioner James E. Allen Jr. ordered public school systems to erase racial imbalance.

The Senate sponsor of the proposed amendment is Norman F. Lent, a Republican from East Rockaway, Long Island.

Lent originally included all school boards in his measure, but in a surprise move last week he amended it to exclude elected school boards.

He explained the move by saying that, "where you have an elected body, there you have community control."

As amended, the proposal would affect New York City and most other large cities in the state, which have appointed school boards, but not cities whose boards are elected.

Rocky's Sales Tax Proposal Under Fire

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller's plan to raise the state's sales tax by a cent on the dollar was under heavy fire today from the legislature's Democratic minority leaders.

After grousing about the plan for several weeks, Sen. Joseph Zaretzki and Assemblyman Stanley Steingut came out in full opposition Monday.

"We will oppose this proposal," they said, "because a sales tax bears most heavily upon low and middle income families who already are contributing more than their fair share to the cost of government operations."

Want Reforms

Instead, the Democratic leaders continued, they will press for reforms in the state income tax structure to extract revenue from high-income taxpayers who have been taking advantage of loopholes to avoid paying any taxes at all.

They reported that State Tax Commissioner Joseph H. Murphy, in response to their queries, informed them that at least 320 high-income taxpayers filed returns for 1967 reporting no tax due at all—some of them earning more than $200,000 a year. Steingut and Zaretzki said they would offer a tax-reform program soon with proposals to correct the situation.

In other developments on State Capitol Hill:

— Rockefeller met with the legislature's GOP leaders, Assembly Speaker Perry B. Duryea Jr. and Senate Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges, and agreed to try to find ways of easing Rockefeller's proposed cutback in school aid, so that school districts would not be affected in their present fiscal year.

— Rockefeller said he disapproved of efforts to prevent busing of school children as a device to prevent integration of the schools. But the anti-busing measure before the legislature is a proposed state constitutional amendment, which does not require his signature.

— Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson maintained in an interview that there was not enough support in the legislature to revise the state's rigid law against abortions this year. Wilson thus put himself indirectly at odds with Rockefeller who is pushing for liberalization of the abortion law.

— The Senate approved an absentee voting bill that also would set the state primary election for June 17 this year, thus ending an abortive plan to switch the primary to September. GOP leaders had said they were considering a change to September as a device to aid New York Mayor John V. Lindsay's re-election prospects. Conservative Republicans had objected.

Rockefeller had proposed the sales tax increase—from two to three per cent—as a device to produce $340 million in additional revenue to close a money gap in his $6.4-billion budget.

The proposal had received little attention, in view of the legislature's overriding concern about another of the governor's budget-balancing devices—a five per cent cutback from the normally higher levels of spending in the coming fiscal year.

Brydges and Duryea have been concentrating on ways and means of obviating a cutback in school aid, since the districts already had adopted budgets predicated on a higher level of aid.

Zaretzki and Steingut said they would go all out to defeat the sales tax proposal. They did not say so in their statement but it was understood that they are depending upon support from conservative Republicans who oppose any increases in state taxes.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, FEBRUARY 25, 1969

Cost of Carelessness

Accidents continued to take higher death tolls in 1968, much of them the result of carelessness.

As it has for many years, auto accidents were the most lethal, taking 55,500 lives — an average of almost 1070 a week, 153 a day, more than six an hour.

Auto deaths went up five per cent last year, despite all the new "safer" interstate and other limited access highways built in the last year.

And, as usual, intoxicants did not mix with gas and oil. Drunken driving was the biggest cause of fatal auto accidents.

All other accidental deaths totalled 58,500, another increase in the roster of unnecessary deaths — fire, drowning, home accidents accounting for the largest numbers.

Accidental deaths among children five through 14 years old rose 12 per cent and among the next group of 15 to 24-year-olds 9 per cent.

John D. Lawler, executive vice president of the National Safety Council, complained that children are not being provided with necessary knowledge about accidents. Proper safety education could cut down the toll among them.

Notre Dame's Policy

Notre Dame University is world famous for its football teams. Also, its president, Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, has often served as a presidential advisor especially on labor and social questions. Recently, it had two minor disorders. Father Hesburgh's way of meeting any full scale campus revolt should set a model for the nation's colleges and universities.

In an open letter to the faculty (523 members) and student body (7235 now), Father Hesburgh pointed out that there is a new politics of confrontation on campus and somewhere a stand must be made.

"No one wants the forces of law on this or any other campus," the clergyman-educator said. "But if some necessitate it, as a last and dismal alternative to anarchy and mob tyranny, let them shoulder the blame instead of receiving the sympathy of a community they hold at bay."

As has been proven again and again, student revolts are stirred up by outsiders, and often the ring leaders are not students at all. Father Hesburgh recognized this in his blueprint for handling any demonstrations that may erupt at Notre Dame. Protestors will be allowed to present their case. Any group that substitutes force for rational persuasion, be it violent or non-violent, will be given 15 minutes of meditation to cease and desist. If they continue, the demonstrators will be asked to turn in their student identity cards and will be expelled on the spot. Those who do not have student identity cards will be treated as trespassers on private property and will suffer the consequences.

It was time that a prestigious university took a firm stand. A very small minority has all but paralyzed one campus after another, with demands that are not fair to the great majority of students who want an education, or to their parents, the alumni or the taxpayers that support them.

As Father Hesburgh warned, "We are about to witness a revolution on the part of legislature, state and national, benefactors, parents, alumni and the general public for what is happening in higher education today. If I read the signs of the times correctly, this may well lead to a suppression of the liberty and autonomy that are the lifeblood of a university community . . . a rebirth of facism . . . We rule ourselves or others rule us."

That puts it on the line.

Nixon Task: Give European Allies Partnership Status

By RAY CROMLEY

(NEA Washington Correspondent)

WASHINGTON (NEA) — President Nixon's trip to Brussels, Bonn, Berlin, Rome and Paris is an exploratory step toward a radical new approach to West Europe on East-West talks.

Nixon's closest advisers hold that it's not sufficient to keep our West European allies merely advised on what we will discuss with the Russians. In addition to disclosing these items, we must go beyond a posture of seeking their advice on each issue.

The United States cannot afford, Nixon's allies believe, to put West Europeans in any position they might consider inferior. Any such tactics will breed resentment and cause relationships with our allies to deteriorate.

A way must be found, therefore, to give West Europeans a sense of equality.

One concept on the agenda — two-track East-West meetings. West Europeans, under this plan, might take the lead in talks with East Europeans, the United States in negotiations with Moscow. There would be regular consultations on objectives and strategy.

Such a formula, if adopted, would be flexible. It would allow for various combinations, including four-country talks of the type proposed for the Middle East—involving France, Britain, Russia and the United States.

The exact structure is less important than the principle—that East-West problems should be so subdivided that leadership could be taken at any time by any nation or group of nations.

This approach is calculated to stimulate a greater community of interest between the United States and its partners.

Otherwise, Nixon's advisers fear a growing resentment of the United States in Western Europe. These nations won't be willing, it is believed, to have the United States take the top role permanently and exclusively in negotiations that have strong effects on their futures. Some leading Europeans naturally fear their interests might be submerged in U.S. attempts to secure a peace suited to its own safety.

Nixon faces another deep-seated problem is working with the Europeans.

It is embarrassing for nations which historically have made such outstanding contributions to find themselves more and more outdistanced militarily, economically, and scientifically by both the United States and Russia.

To meet this problem, State Department and White House tacticians are giving strong consideration to programs on which Europeans and Americans would work as partners in space, pollution, weather control and urban growth.

Nixon, it is understood, will make less effort than did President Johnson in seeking Europe-wide co-operation on Far East problems. The feeling is that European lands have such varying interests in East Asia that, in most cases, unified action is impossible.

Drew Pearson Says Nixon and Finch Huddle Over Problem of Strom Thurmond

WASHINGTON — President Nixon called Bob Finch, the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare, to the White House the other day to discuss what to do about Sen. Strom Thurmond.

The austere Senator from South Carolina, who stands on his head and does daily push-ups to keep fit, is credited with holding the South in line for Nixon at the Republican convention last year.

He brought Nixon behind closed doors to talk to Southern delegates. While Thurmond beamed paternally, Nixon promised the Southerners that he would let local districts set the guidelines for school desegregation. This was exactly what Southerners wanted to hear but was contrary to the law passed by Congress. The enterprising Miami Herald planted a tape recorder on a delegate and got a full transcript of Nixon's closed-door pitch.

Throughout the Presidential campaign, Thurmond repeated this promise up and down the South. Wait until Nixon reaches the White House, he promised his Southern satrapy. The old order will be restored.

Secretary Finch, however, took office with no intention of ignoring the civil rights law which requires federal funds to be withheld from school districts that don't desegregate. His first move was to ask Mrs. Ruby Martin, a brilliant, 35-year-old Negro lawyer, to remain in charge of the civil rights program.

Finch even came to his predecessor, Wilbur Cohen, for advice on how he could persuade Mrs. Martin to stay. Cohen suggested that he offer her a promotion and a more prestigious position. Finch went to her with the offer, which she turned down to go into private practice.

He scarcely got settled behind his new desk at HEW, however, before Thurmond demanded that Nixon keep the secret promise he had made to Southern delegates in Miami and leave it up to the districts to decide what to do about desegregation in five school districts in Mississippi, North and South Carolina. Strom is so unyielding of this subject that he cast the only Senate vote against the confirmation of Wilbur Cohen for HEW Secretary in 1967 because of Cohen's stand on desegregation.

Willful Senator
The Senator is a headstrong old mossback who is accustomed to getting his way. When he wanted the trees cut down in front of the apartment house which he and Hubert Humphrey occupy near the Potomac, Humphrey then Vice President, didn't want them cut down. They were cut down anyway.

When Sen. Ralph Yarborough tried to steer Strom into a Senate hearing he didn't want to attend, the Senator from South Carolina wrestled the Senator from Texas in the corridor outside the hearing room and Yarborough ended up on the floor. Again, old Strom asserted his stubborn will on a Congressional air trip abroad. There were only two bunks on the plane for the several Senators, Congressmen and their wives. Thurmond and his late wife, the latter a bit embarrassed, climbed into one bunk, while other Senators were still chatting, and proceeded to pray and read the bible quite audibly as if to invoke divine sanction upon his expropriation of half the bed space aboard the plane.

So it is no small matter to go against Strom Thurmond. Nevertheless, Secretary Finch insisted to President Nixon that the desegregation laws would have to be enforced. In the end, Thurmond got a 60-day further period of grace for the five school districts. Considering the fact that these schools have been warned, given hearings, visited, warned that it has been 14 years since the Supreme Court decreed that they should desegregate with all deliberate speed, this was quite a concession.

During the White House huddle, Finch also agreed that he would do his utmost to persuade some 200 other noncomplying school districts to desegregate. He might be able to talk a third, perhaps even half, of them into going along with the law. Finch said.

Stock Market Speculation
The Securities and Exchange Commissioners have discussed behind closed doors how to stop the stock speculating that is swamping brokers with paperwork and threatening to bring the stock market tumbling down in the biggest crash since 1929.

They agree that the brokers need more, not less, regulating despite President Nixon's promise in a campaign letter to stockbrokers before his election to give them less. The Commissioners want legislation giving them more power to curb companies that seem to be in business more to promote their stock than to produce goods.

The SEC Commissioners are particularly concerned about the new stock issues that have been run up far beyond their value. One proposal, that would end a lot of stock manipulating and lash the paperwork, is a 100 per cent tax on all stock sold before 60 days.

Under this proposal, a person who purchased stock could get his money back if he needed capital. But he couldn't collect a penny of profit until he has held the stock at least 60 days. All profits for the first 60 days would be taxed 100 per cent.

The altar boy was a murderer. He wore a black cassock, a white surplice, and a face of wrinkled leather. Eddie Hough, the court had said, killed a policeman. He would never go free. The court was wrong, Eddie got out of Western State Penitentiary last October.

I never met him. We corresponded. Besides being an acolyte, Eddie was editor of the prison magazine. Years ago, Hough — rhymes with tough — arranged with a gang of hoodlums to hold up a supermarket in Philadelphia. It was a soft touch, they said. An easy buck.

Eddie ran to a car in a parking lot across the street just as two policemen ran toward the supermarket from opposite directions. There was the sharp snap of gunfire. A policeman fell, mortally wounded.

It is an old judicial truism that cop killers must die. The police of Philadelphia, according to the records, got Eddie, beat him badly, refused him a lawyer, and got him to sign a statement that he had driven the getaway car.

At the trial, neither side asked for a ballistics test on the bullet. Both sides believed that one policeman accidentally shot the other. Someone had to pay, so Eddie Hough was elected, unanimously. He was sentenced to die in the electric chair.

Somehow, the State of Pennsylvania was not satisfied to permit Eddie to die. The governor made a habit of waiting until Eddie was an hour away from the chair, and then postponing the event. It happened several times and Eddie wrote to me and said: "Let it happen. Let me die."

This went on for years. A new prosecutor in Philadelphia dug up the old records and asked the governor to commute Eddie's sentence to life imprisonment. When Hough got the news, he broke down.

He was taken by sheriffs to court in Philadelphia. "It was my first time outside in 19 years," he wrote. "It was breath-taking. We stopped at a Howard Johnson restaurant. This may be no rare treat for you, but it was overwhelming to me. They took the handcuffs off to let me tip the waitress. I had a dollar. I couldn't use it. She could. The smile was worth a hundred."

"I saw a little girl. I heard her laugh. Chimes. I saw a horse. He was standing in an unfenced field and he seemed to be enjoying himself."

Four days later: "The Philadelphia hearing was a bust, Jim. The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania admits it committed a grave error, but did not ask the judge to correct it. I know what his decision will be. Negative.

"The day had a big bright spot. I saw my wife for the first time in many years. She's a wonderful woman, every bit as lovely as the day I met her. I was given official permission to kiss her and to put my arm around her. I melted like butter in an oven."

"On Friday, they allowed my son to visit me. Of course, I don't know him at all. I left a baby at home — a tall, handsome manly man stood before me. I had to turn away. He put a lump in my throat. He said he wants to enlist in the Green Berets. Funny. He's brave and I'm scared."

"Now I'm back in Western State, a lifer. I must be the prayingest convict in the country. When I'm not working on the magazine, or reading, I'm praying. The world is going to hell quicker than God can get the news. Besides, who else will give you a better break than you deserve?"

"Strangely, I never pray for myself. I don't have the gall. Still, I have friends. There's Father Thomas Jackson, the prison chaplain. And how about Sister Mary Edward, our mutual friend in Charlotte North Carolina? And Nell Robb, of Esterville, Iowa, who has been a sort of mother to me for so long?"

"With a pitching staff like that, a bum could make Heaven some day. Your friend, Ed."

I wrote to Hough, but the letters were returned unopened. For reasons of his own, the warden at Western State removed my name from the approved list of correspondents. When I was in Pittsburgh, I asked to see the warden and Eddie Hough, and was declined.

All the doors clanged shut. Yesterday, a note arrived from a priest at the prison. "You will be happy to know," he wrote, "that Eddie Hough finally achieved his freedom. It occurred on October 28th, 1968. On that day, Eddie died."

Marijuana: Seed to Classroom

Mexican Peasants Prime Source

EDITOR'S NOTE: Marijuana users in the United States, according to experts, number in the millions—and many of them are young people from junior high school to college age. Its most popular name is "pot" and most of it—70 to 90 per cent in varying U.S. estimates—comes into the country from Mexico. This dispatch is the first of four reporting on the prime source of marijuana, how it enters the country, its attractions to and use by "pot smokers" of all ages and, finally its known effects on individuals.

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—In the wild and remote mountains, plains and jungles of the states of Sonora, Sinaloa, Jalisco and Guerrero on the Pacific side of Mexico, the average peasant farmer makes about $200 a year from his crops.

It's tough to get many things to grow there. But one plant flourishes equally well in the sandy deserts, the rocky hills, the steamy coastal tropics.

It is marijuana. It needs virtually no care. Just plant it and forget it.

Easily Hidden

Marijuana is easily hidden. In jungle areas, the lush vegetation itself is such good cover that no other steps need be taken. In farming areas, it is planted in with other crops. Corn is a favorite cover because corn grows faster and stays a little higher than the marijuana. In the mountains, remote canyons are used.

In warm climate marijuana plants grow to a height of three to six feet and weigh 15 to 20 pounds. A peasant can get $2 to $4 a pound for the stalk, leaves, roots and seeds of a plant. Half a dozen plants can bring in enough income to the Mexican peasant to easily double his yearly income. A couple of acres and the right connections will bring him several thousand dollars.

By the time it reaches the "wholesaler" in the United States the price will have gone over $100 a pound and when it is processed into flakes and rolled into paper going for 50 cents a reefer, the price per pound becomes astronomical.

Not a Major Problem

The Mexican peasants have a long tradition of "mind your own business and keep away from the law—authorities just mean trouble." If Jose up the hill is running a few acres of non-golf course "grass," his neighbors are no more likely to report him than a good Tennesseean would report Luke's moonshine still.

Marijuana use in Mexico itself is not considered a major or even an important problem, although it is illegal. It is popular among some Bohemian type people in the cities but the rural people who grow marijuana rarely use it and the Mexican government never worried much about it until five years ago when the United States began pushing Mexico to do something about the export traffic.

The Mexican government by 1968 had mounted a big program to discourage the growing of marijuana. Several entire army regiments have been detailed for the job plus a large force of federal agents. The United States government has provided the Mexican army with helicopters to aid in the program.

The first problem is to find the stuff. The next is to destroy it and the third is to do so while catching the growers.

The whole thing is planned like a military operation.

Because of the variations in climate, marijuana ripens at different parts of the year in different parts of the country. The anti-marijuana brigade moves in at harvest time because the harvest brings growers into the otherwise untended fields which may be miles from their dwellings.

First of all, army spotter

REFILLING A BUTT—Marijuana is as easy for young people to acquire as tobacco is, and marijuana usage is known even in the U.S. armed services. Here, in a photo made somewhere near Udorn Air Base in Thailand, a U.S. airman, having emptied the tobacco from an American-made filter cigarette, refills the cigarette paper with marijuana. An air policeman at Udorn estimates that 65 per cent of the base population smokes or has smoked marijuana. (UPI TELEPHOTO) planes—slow-flying, light air-craft—scurry the suspect areas. They are most useful in looking for patches tucked inside the rocky canyons and along streambeds in desert areas.

They radio any finds. Then the army moves in. Sometimes army motorized columns are patrolling in an area. They head overland in jeeps. If the place is really remote, troops are ferried in by helicopter, landing all around the area to surround it. In some terrain, the horse cavalry is called out and they go galloping into the hills.

The soldiers move in with flamethrowers, systematically charring all vegetation to the ground. The officers and federal agent or two meanwhile look for the growers. A federal commissioner is brought along so any farmers found in the area can be arraigned and indicted right there and marched away to jail for trial.

The sentences are not too harsh for first offenders since the government attitude is that these are simple people trying to make a few pesos, not big time racketeers.

A Pot Roast

The agents save a few pounds of marijuana from each raid to be used as evidence. A few months ago in Mazatlan, the stored marijuana reached eight tons. The government decided to burn it all at once and piled it in a mound two stories high in an area where the wind would carry the smoke out to sea. One was referred to it as "history's biggest pot roast."

The basic difficulty is the tremendous abundance of the weed plus the simplicity of its processing. The Mexican peasant simply takes the dried plants, breaks up the stems and branches and packs them into the tightest possible bundle to take up as little room as possible. The standard is a "key" or kilo—2.2 pounds—and approximately the size and shape of a brick. The sifting and grinding into tiny flakes suitable for cigarettes is left to be done on the northern side of the border.

The city of Culiacan, 800 miles southeast of San Diego, is reported to be the chief organization and distribution point for moving the marijuana northward on back roads to the border at Tijuana.

The extent of "gang" control in the traffic is not clear but apparently much, and probably most, of the shipments are made by small-time entrepreneurs.

The collectors who pick up the marijuana in the fields from the farmers resell it to the transporters for about $6 a pound. By the time the bricks reach the area close to the United States border but still in Mexico, the price goes up to more than $10 a pound. The great jump, and the great risk, comes when the marijuana is taken across the border and delivered to the "wholesaler" in California.

Next: The Smugglers.

It's not as pretty as a Xerox but then you won't spend as much time looking at it.

What a shame!

To get a copier because it'll save time, only to spend the time saved standing around waiting to use it.

Maybe what you need is a copier that copies just as well, but twice as fast.

One small enough to be inconspicuous, yet big enough to copy an 11" x 17" ledger sheet in one pass.

A copier that's simple to operate. Inexpensive to buy, rent or lease.

Claims Pesticide Danger to Health

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal investigators have criticized the Department of Agriculture for approving use of a potentially dangerous pesticide in restaurants and other food-handling businesses, and called for action to "resolve this question of safety to human health."

In a report made public Monday, the General Accounting Office said that since the department's Agricultural Research Service licensed the use of lindane pellets in 1949, millions of vaporizers using the pellets have been sold to commercial and industrial establishments.

The report noted that the U.S. Public Health Service, the Food and Drug Administration and other organizations "have questioned the adequacy of the scientific data to prove that continuous vaporization of lindane pellets is safe," and added: "ARS has not resolved this question of safety as raised by these organizations. Nor has ARS taken action to restrict or disapprove the use of lindane pellets in vaporizers in certain commercial and industrial establishments."

City Pays

COLUMBUS, Miss. (AP) — The city came out the loser when a man made a left turn into the path of a city police car.

The offender paid a $17 traffic ticket—but the city had to pay $556 to repair the damaged squad car.

The eight on the partial list are: P. Jansen of Woodstock, T. LeRoy of Highland, L. Lasher of Kingston, P. Sickers of Kingston, C. Hedden of Saugerties, M. Scheider of Saugerties, P. Miller of Ellenville and H. Trice of Ellenville.

In addition to a superprize of $250,000, 14 other prizes of $7,500 will be given to winners.

Accuse Youth Of Possession

Richard Connor, 18, of Berne Road, a high school student, was arrested Monday by Police Sgt. John J. Phillips on a charge of criminal possession of a dangerous drug, fourth degree.

Arraigned before Village Police Justice Ronald Elias, Connor pleaded innocent. He was ordered held in bail of $2,500 cash or $5,000 property bond, and hearing was adjourned until Tuesday, March 4 at 7 p.m. In lieu of bail the youth was committed to the county jail.

Police accused Connor of possessing a quantity of heroin.

Girl Injured, Struck by Car

Diane Van Etten, 6, of 136 Bruyn Avenue, was injured shortly after 3 p. m. Monday when she was hit by a car as she ran from in front of a parked car into the path of the other vehicle on Bruyn Avenue. The girl was taken to Kingston Hospital and treated for a bump on the head and laceration of the upper lip.

Police reports noted that Peter Lesoine, 46, of 9 Ravine Road, Hyde Park, was traveling south on Bruyn Avenue when the girl ran into the side of his vehicle.

Man Arrested On DWI Charge

Robert L. Berendt, of 19 Broadway, Upper Nyack, was arrested at 1 a. m. today by Officer Anthony Oneto on charges of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated, driving the wrong way on a one-way street, and failure to keep to the right.

Berendt, described as a Nyack school teacher, submitted to a blood test, police said. He was later arraigned before Justice Rexford Schneider and was held in $100 bail pending hearing on March 7.

The arrest was made by Oneto on North Front Street.

Rosendale Man Faces Charges

Pursued by two city patrolmen during a high speed chase along the boulevard and Route 32 to Rosendale early today, Frank M. Tiano, 24, of Sportsman's Park, that village, was booked on four vehicle and traffic charges.

Tiano was scheduled to appear in City Court to face charges of speeding, failure to comply, driving an unregistered motor vehicle and failure to keep to the right.

PORT EWEN

A 64-year-old Kingston man was hospitalized Monday afternoon as a result of a one-car traffic mishap on Route 9W at Port Ewen in which his car reportedly veered off the pavement into a utility pole.

Nestor Rallis of Franklin street, was reported in fair condition today in Benedictine Hospital. Deputy Sheriff Henry Newman said he suffered a fractured rib and fractured nose.

The deputy said Rallis was proceeding north on Route 9W, crossed over the double yellow line into the southbound lane and struck a utility pole. Hospital authorities told the sheriff's office that the driver may have blacked out.

Jury Excused, Was Unable To Reach Verdict

KINGSTON

A County Court jury of 10 men and two women Monday night reported to County Judge Raymond J. Mino they could not agree on a verdict in the case of 32-year-old Winfield W. Moore of New Paltz, who had been indicted for third degree burglary, criminal trespass and three counts of second degree assault.

Judge Mino excused the jury and a spokesman for the district attorney, said the case would be retried.

Moore was accused of the charges after a shoot-out with several state troopers at the Happy Hour Tavern on Route 32 in Tilton on the morning of Dec. 23, 1967.

Asst. Dist. Atty. James Fisher prosecuted the case, and Charles Saccoman was defense attorney.

76th Arrest In Dutchess On Narcotics

POUGHKEEPSIE

Arrests in the clampdown of sale or use of narcotics in Dutchess County have reached a total of 76, it was reported today by the office of Sheriff Lawrence M. Quinlan, who directed the sweeping raids in several communities on Saturday.

Two persons were taken into custody Monday night by sheriff's deputies, and four others were booked since the weekend roundup, according to Chief Detective Charles Borchers, who said additional arrests will be made on warrants issued by area justices.

Borchers said 16-year-old Tommie Lee Martin, of Germantown, was arrested last night. Arraigned before Red Hook Town Justice Frank Martin, the youth was fined $250 after pleading guilty to criminal possession of a dangerous drug in the fourth degree. In lieu of payment of the fine the defendant was committed to the county jail in this city.

The cases of the other 75 defendants are scheduled in justices court next week.

Floods, Earthslides Plague California

SANTA PALMA, Calif. (AP)—Thousands of Californians in low-lying areas throughout the central valley.

Fifteen homes were endangered by mudslides and water at Lake Hughes in the mountains north of the Antelope Valley between Fresno and Los Angeles. After several days of heavy rain, the road was washed out.

The Red Cross set up emergency relief centers in Riverside, San Bernardino, Orange and San Luis Obispo counties in southern California.

In Orange County, Marine helicopters flew food to an estimated 3,500 persons stranded in canyons.

The sheriff's office said none of the stranded was reported in immediate danger, although roads were cut off blocking their travel to the outside. Electrical and telephone services were reported intact.

A wind-driven snow hindered the search for four Explorer Scouts and their adult leader missing in the Big Bear area of San Bernardino County on a ski trip. A 14-man posse was searching.

The water-logged hills around Los Angeles were giving way anew. For weeks, in dozens of canyons, homes have tumbled. The Glendora area northeast of Los Angeles. Hardest hit by January flooding, was a mass of running mud again.

Several major highways including U.S. 395 and Interstate 10 were closed temporarily.

Blizzards closed roads and isolated the eastern approaches to the High Sierra where a week-long search has been under way for an airliner lost with 35 persons aboard.

The biggest evacuation was in Santa Paula, a Ventura County community of 8,000 about 60 miles northwest of Los Angeles and only a few miles west of Sespe Creek, where January rains swept nine persons to their deaths.

Police evacuated 4,000 persons as swollen Santa Paula Creek flooded the east end of town. After drenching weekend rains, three inches of new rain fell Monday and another three inches was predicted.

A flood two feet deep rolled through town, inundating stores. It was the second time in less than a month that floods forced Santa Paula residents to evacuate their homes, and officials said the majority fled leaving their belongings behind.

About 10 miles east of Santa Paula, an estimated 350 to 400 residents evacuated the Fillmore area in the face of high floodwater from two rivers and a creek.

In the Ojai Valley to the northeast, 600 persons spent the night in schools to escape foot-deep flooding in the Camp Barrett and Rancho Sespe areas from San Antonio Creek and the Ventura River.

City streets at Fresno in central California were flooded, and sandbags were used to hold back water from stores and homes. There were evacuations.

Last Indian uprising in the United States occurred in 1886.

Elegant tradition:
The smoothest whisky ever to come out of Canada!

Tonight serve Windsor Canadian: the remarkable, sippin'-smooth Canadian that's already changing thousands of Americans' ideas on the whisky to serve.

Now compare Windsor! Pour two drinks — highballs or over ice — one with your usual, one with Windsor Canadian. Notice the superior smoothness and the flavor of Windsor.

That's because no other custom-distilled whisky shares these three extraordinary features:

1. Only Windsor Canadian is made from choicest northern prairie grains, bursting with fresh flavor.

2. Only Windsor Canadian is born of icy mountain glacial water drawn pure and clear from underground streams. 3. Only Windsor Canadian is aged in the incredibly dry air of Canada's Rockies. Where, nearly a mile high, it gentles to sippin'-smooth perfection.

Yet it costs no more than leading domestic whiskies, because we import Windsor Canadian, then bottle it here. Thus saving on duties and other charges. Compare the price and the smoothness of Windsor. Once you do, you'll never settle for less or pay more. That's tradition for you!

Fuzo-Paine Nuptials

Mr. and Mrs. Matthew E. Fuzo of Woodstock announce the marriage of their daughter, Marguerite, to Whiton Stewart Paine, son of Mrs. Stuart K. Aitkin of Alden and Whiton Paine of Westport, Conn.

The Rev. Roland M. Jones officiated at the ceremony at the Church of the Ascension, Silver Springs, Md., Saturday, Feb. 1.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street-length dress of ivory satin with an ivory chiffon overdress trimmed with ecru lace. Her veil was chapel length accented with white chrysanthemums, and she carried a bouquet of violets and white chrysanthemums.

Mrs. William Dorn III was matron of honor and Paul Wexelblat was best man.

Mrs. Paine is a graduate of Saugerties High School, and a 1967 graduate of the University of Maryland. She is presently studying for her Master's degree in Speech Pathology at Queens College and is employed as a speech therapist with the Prince George's County Health Department, Cheverly, Md.

Her husband, an alumnus of Pennsylvania State University, is doing graduate work at the University of Maryland. He is employed as a clinical psychologist trainee at the Veterans' Administration Hospital, Washington, D.C.

After the wedding, a reception was held at Mr. and Mrs. Paine's Townhouse, Silver Springs, Md., with an attendance of 70 guests.

The couple will reside at 1931 Rosemary Hills Drive, Silver Springs, Md., when they return from their wedding trip to the island of Guadeloupe in the French West Indies.

Freeman Fashion Show on March 4th

By DOROTHY A. NAREL

The beautiful season will be happening before we know it. It will be Spring.

Spring happens with a happy mood of comfort and charm in the home and for the individual. Fashions take on a new look, and individual approach and women roll up their sleeves to give the house an atmosphere of sparkle and cleanliness.

In keeping with the approaching seasons of spring and summer, the Woman's Department of the Kingston Daily Freeman will give a fashion show on Tuesday, March 4 at 2:30 p.m. in the Crystal Room of the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Fashions will be shown through the courtesy of leading area stores and models will include some of Ulster County's top personalities.

The show will be given for the benefit of the Ulster County Community Chest. Tickets, at $2.50 per person, are now available and may be obtained by using the coupon published daily in The Freeman. All checks should be made payable to: Kingston Daily Freeman.

The purpose of the fashion show is to afford fashion-minded women in our reading area an opportunity to catch a first-hand preview of the spring and summer fashion headlines for 1969. So much has been said and paraded before the discerning styles, but they cannot be appreciated until they are paraded before the discerning eyes of the female consumer.

We are calling our program "1969 Fashion Headliners" because models will be showing the very latest designs collected for the benefit of discriminating women in the area.

As background Peter Ferraro and his trio will provide music and guests will be recipients of awards and refreshments will be served.

In speaking about fashions with our local stores, we learn that spring styles for 1969 will be going back to basics. Clothes have to work. The look for the sake of a look is defunct. Functional is the modus operandi. Real fashion has a reason for being. It moves, it keeps you warm, it's striving to be as comfortable and as easy to care for as your skin.

Functional fashion found its mark this year in the pants look, from the down-on-the-farm type to the sporty, zany, sexy look.

The 1969 selection of delicious colors are taken from the pale pastel tones of bonbons to after-dinner mint. Colors are pretty and soft and follow a decidedly feminine line. Shape is easy. We predict that "1969 Fashion Headliners" clothes are destined for women who lead an active life and want comfort and freedom of movement as well as style appeal.

So, join us on Tuesday, March 4 at 2:30 in the Governor Clinton Hotel. There is a limited seating capacity.

Advance letters of invitation have been mailed to a majority of the women's organizations in Ulster County but the show is open to the public.

Make early ticket reservations. Use the coupon published in The Freeman today.

Paul O'Dwyer to Address Conference

Paul O'Dwyer, Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate from New York in 1968, will be guest speaker at the noon luncheon on March 3 at the 18th Annual Political Conference of the Women's Division of the Democratic State Committee, it was announced by Mrs. Mae Gurevich, State Committee Vice-Chairman. The conference, theme of which is "Local Responsibility: Politics with a Purpose," will be held at the Thruway Hyatt House, Albany, on March 2 and 3 and will be attended by more than 800 women from the 62 counties of New York State.

Mrs. Gurevich also released the final schedule for the conference.

Registration will begin at 9 a.m. on Sunday, March 2. At 1:30 p.m. Mrs. Gurevich will welcome the conferees, introduce the Honorary Chairman, Brooklyn Congresswoman Shirley Chisholm, and turn over the program to the Conference Chairman, Mrs. Jean McCabe Angell of Ithaca, Tompkins County Democratic Committee Chairman. Mrs. Chisholm will then deliver the keynote address.

The first panel of the conference, "Fiscal Responsibility," will follow. Panelists will be State Comptroller Arthur Levitt; Howard J. Samuels, Administrator of the Small Business Administration; Nassau County Executive Eugene H. Nickerson; and Dr.

Seymour Scher, City Manager of Rochester. Dr. Freda R. H. Martens of Ruby, Democratic State Committeewoman for Ulster County, will moderate.

The conference's second panel, "Administrative Responsibility," will start at 4 p.m. Panelists will be Manhattan Borough President Percy E. Sutton; Assemblyman Manuel Ramos of the 79th A. D. in the Bronx; Mrs. Evelina Antonetty, Executive Director of United Bronx Parents; and Richard H.

Pine, Deputy Administrator of Urban Renewal in Rochester. Moderator will be Mrs. Carol R. Lubin of New York City, Consultant to the New York Urban Coalition.

A reception hosted by Democratic National Committeeman John F. English and Assembly Minority Leader Stanley Steingut will be followed by dinner at 7 p.m. Senator Birch Bayh, Democrat of Indiana, will be guest speaker at the dinner.

The third panel of the conference, "A Party in Perspective," will take place at 10 a.m. on Monday, March 3. Panelists will be New York City attorney Theodore C. Sorensen; Joseph F. Crangle of Buffalo, Chairman of the Erie County Democratic Committee; Assemblywoman Gail Hellenbrand of the 54th A. D. Brooklyn; Mrs. Jean S. Toigo of Chatham, vice-chairman of the Columbia County Democratic Committee; Mrs. Mildred Sweet of Apalachin, president of the Tioga County Democratic Women's Club; and Christopher D. Ryan of Albany, a student. Assemblywoman Mary Anne Krupsak of the 104th A. D. in Amsterdam will moderate.

The noon luncheon will open with a welcome from Albany Mayor Erastus Corning, 2nd, and brief remarks by Democratic State Chairman John J. Burns; Mr. English;

State Senate Minority Leader Joseph A. Zaretzki; Mr. Steingut; and Mrs. Gurevich. The conference will adjourn immediately after Mr. O'Dwyer's speech.

"PICNIC" CAST—Kingston Coach House Players will present playwright William Inge's "Picnic" Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the J. Watson Bailey School auditorium, Kingston. Curtain will be at 8:30 p.m. Shown here rehearsing for the production are (L-R) Roger Scholl, Marilyn Robbins, Frank Policano, Linda Giles and Mary Jo Brightly. Tickets are available at the Book Center in Ulster Shopping Plaza and at Shapiro's on North Front Street, or may be purchased at the door. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Interior Decorator Will Speak To Saugerties Woman's Club

The Home Department Chairwoman Mrs. Edward Rusczyk, has completed arrangements for Mrs. Marion B. Kamp of Poughkeepsie to speak at the February 27 meeting of the Woman's Club of Saugerties. Mrs. Kamp is an interior decorator and her speech will cover such topics as what to look for when buying furniture, how to plan a room, the purpose of accessories, the use of color, and the types of carpeting now available.

Born in Holland, Mrs. Kamp has resided in the United States since 1951. She is a graduate of the Parsons School of Design in New York City and has also studied at the New School for Social Research there. Her experience consists of working for two large New York City design offices and at one time had a budget of $990,000 to decorate and furnish five floors for a prominent client.

Poultice Off Oil Stain

Oil stains caused by butter, milk, etc., on your marble should be wiped with a cloth dampened with ammonia, poulticed with equal parts of amyl acetate and acetone, then a final poultice of hydrogen peroxide and ammonia. Wash carefully between each step.

For the last three years Mrs. Kamp has been an instructor in Interior Design at Dutchess Community College in Poughkeepsie. She also maintains her own Interior Design Office in that city. Over the years she has travelled extensively throughout Europe and Israel.

The Woman's Club has extended invitations to the neighboring Home Extension Units to attend this meeting which will start at 8:15 p.m. at the Dutch Arms Chapel in Saugerties.

BOOKS PRESENTED—Students Mark Josefski and Mary Jean Marshall accept books for their M. Clifford Miller School from Mrs. Warren A. Russell, DAR historian for Wiltwyck Chapter. The presentation was made during a Washington's Day program given by the DAR at their Chapter House in Kingston. (Freeman photo by Haines)

Wiltwyck DAR Holds Washington Program

For the 76th consecutive year Wiltwyck Chapter of the DAR observed Washington's birthday. The program took place Saturday, Feb. 22 in the Chapter House on Crown Street. Emphasized was the National Society's three objectives: education, history and patriotism.

After a reading of Washington's Prayer by Mrs. William Ochs, chaplain, the Pledge of Allegiance, National Anthem, the student of M. Clifford Miller School, directed by Dennis Kennedy, presented a skit, "It All Started With Columbus," by Richard Armour. The cast included Mark Josefski, Mary Jean Marshall, Christianne Joyette, George Moxham, Donald Herring, Judy Patrick, with musical interludes by Marilyn and Sandy Katz, piano accompanist Linda Johnson.

Mrs. Warren A. Russell, Chapter historian, presented the school with a group of books on American History. Accepting for the school were Mark Josefski and Mary Jeanne Marshall.

The five DAR Good Citizens were presented with their pins and corsage. They included: Marie Abernathy, Kingston High School; Dianne Bosco, John F. Coleman High School; Linda Bevier, New Paltz High School; Patricia Mills, Rondout Valley Central School; and Jacqueline Gardiner, Walkkill Central School.

The program closed with the American's Creed. Refreshments were served by the entertainment committee headed by Miss B. Isabel Herdman.

COMBAT DROOPY HAIR

If your hair is droopy and limp and loses its set almost immediately, it probably lacks body. Here are some ways to combat the "droopies":

Wind rollers smoothly and firmly and fasten them properly; try using a slightly smaller size roller; use a setting lotion made for hard-to-hold hair; use just enough hair spray to hold your hair without dampening it; use a hair dryer and make sure your hair is completely dry; switch to a cream rinse designed to add body. Most important of all, choose a simple style that's easy to maintain.

"Our Electric Bills went over the estimate — and we're delighted!"

say Mr. & Mrs. Gardner West of Rhinebeck

"because we put in a lot of extras after the estimate — including air conditioning. Actually, our total-electric home costs no more to heat than our old oil-heated home did; in fact our new total-electric bill comes to less than our combined oil and electric bill in our old home. Both houses are about the same size — but the resemblance ends there. Apart from all those extras, you really have to feel the comfort of electric heat all over the house, to believe it. Our kitchen is sunny in the morning and shaded in the afternoon, but it stays the same pleasant temperature all day long. Try and get that with an oil furnace! We just love our electric heat — and recommend it to everybody!"

What's left to say? Except that about 4,500 other families in this area are satisfied electric heat users.

If you'd like to know more about electric heat for your home, old home or new, give us a call or send in the coupon.

Saugerties Little League Registration

Officers and managers of the Saugerties Little League met recently to lay ground work for the coming season. Vice-President Russell Knorr announced that registration will be held at the Roger Donlon Auditorium on March 22, 1969 from 10:00 a. m. to 1:00 p. m.

All boys between the ages of 8 and 12 are encouraged to participate. Coaches Martin, Mullaney and Knowland have agreed to work with the 8-9 years olds in the grasshopper league. Parents willing to help out with the minors are asked to make their interest known at the time of registration.

Try outs will be held from April 14th to April 25th, and the league will begin on May 12th.

Ferroxcube Retains Lead at Saugerties

SAUGERTIES
 Ferroxcube took advantage of the Bruins' usual late game collapse and routed them, 75-43, to retain first place by a one-game margin over runnerup Irish in the Saugerties Athletic Association basketball league.

The Irish survived a last minute scare to edge Comets, 55-52, and remain a game behind Ferroxcube. With nine seconds left to play, the Comets' Mouse Woven, who led all scorers with 27 points, missed on a 1-and-1 that would have tied the score.

League Standing

Team	W	L
Ferroxcube	8	3
Irish	7	4
Comets	6	5
Bruins	1	10

Ferroxcube outscored Bruins, 25-2, in the fourth quarter to turn a 50-41 game into a rout. Pete Steinfurth led Ferroxcube with 35 points, second highest individual total of the season. Frank Allen was runnerup with 18 points. Bill Robinson paced Bruins with 17 and Mike Dodig added 16. Jack Keenan led the Irish with 13 points.

ATTENTION MEN
21 OR OVER

For the first time in the Kingston and surrounding areas, Revere
Tractor Trailer Training, a school licensed by New York State, is offering qualified men a golden opportunity in the heavy trucking industry.
Due to the critical shortage of
New York class 21 Tractor Trailer Drivers, we are training men from the Kingston area and offering immediate job placement assistance upon completing our 4 to 7 week training program.

Tractor Trailer Driving is one of the very few occupations with a pay scale up to $15,000 per year which does not require a High School education.

There is no need to quit your present job. Revere trains part time, days & evenings, Mondays thru Sundays. Week-end classes are also available. Revere offers a 2 year budget plan. For business information call Kingston 338-3515 any time day or night.

DEAR ABBY: When I was little, I was spoiled by my parents and now that I am older I am still spoiled, so they yell at me and punish me. Do you think it is fair that I get yelled at and punished for their mistakes?

At most tables in a duplicate game North would wind up as declarer at either three or six no-trump. He would take the diamond finesse somewhere along the line and make either six or seven, depending on whether or not he could gather in four spade tricks.

In the average rubber bridge game South might well play in six diamonds. He also would make his contract by means of the same diamond finesse.

We watched our old friend the Unlucky Expert play the hand. Since he sat South he made sure to be the declarer at diamonds. Then he managed to go down three tricks and, strangely enough, the only thing wrong with his play was the result.

He went right up with dummy's ace of hearts. There was no point in giving up a trick in this suit. Then he led dummy's seven of diamonds to his king. Singleton queens have been known to drop on occasion. When the queen failed to fall, he entered dummy with the king of clubs and led the jack of diamonds. East played low. Our hero rose with the ace and was down to his last chance. He played his queen of spades, led the deuce of spades and called for dummy's 10. East won a surprise trick with the jack of spades and three more with the king-queen of hearts and queen of trumps.

This is one time when we sympathize with our friend. He had taken the best percentage play for his contract but this time, the best percentage play turned out to be a loser. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

LOST PAL: (Q.) All summer I hung around with a friend. Now I've almost lost his friendship because he likes this girl and doesn't have time for me any more.

I've tried over and over to split them up, but they stick together. What can I do? I miss him—B. in Norwalk, Conn.

(A.) Get yourself a girl of your own and quit worrying about him. He's doing the right thing. You're not if you keep trying to split them up because of your jealousy.

LOST DATE: (Q.) Last summer I dated a boy. All my friends said he had a bad reputation. They were wrong. I liked him and so did my whole family.

When school started, though, we agreed not to go together because we both wanted to meet and date new friends.

Since then I've been going with a senior. He knew about my summer friend and how I think he's a real nice guy. The senior asked me to a formal. I bought a $48 gown to wear.

Now my best friend has told him all sorts of junk about last summer and what my boy friend and I did. The senior says he doesn't want anything to do with me and is going to take someone else to our big dance. What do I do?—A Reader in Johnstown, Pa.

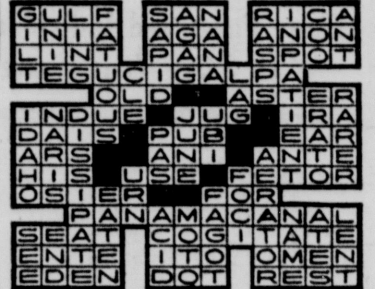

(A.) If he knew all the time about the other boy and just now decides he doesn't like your "past" and breaks a very SPECIAL date, (1) He's not worth your time and devotion; (2) He has bad manners; (3) He really didn't care very much for you, since he believed your best friend instead of you; (4) He should see you at the dance having FUN with somebody else in the $48 dress, and (5) You should find another "best friend" who won't tell lies about you.

(Want personal answers to your questions? Write to Jean Adams, Box 2402, Houston, Texas 77001. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

claque (klak)
individuals hired to applaud at public performances
It is no wonder his speeches are heavily applauded; he uses the claque at every meeting.
Hoping to impress the critics with his new play, the producer sent for the claque for the opening night performance.
Even using the claque has not helped his nightclub routine.

Horoscope By SIDNEY OMARR

It's In The Stars

("The wise man controls his destiny . . . astrology points the way.")

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, FEB. 26, 1969

By SYDNEY OMARR

ARIES (March 21 - April 19):

Differences with mate, partner must be settled. Accent on domestic affairs. Preserve integrity. Set example. Make no promises you can't keep. Hold off on buying, selling property.

TAURUS (April 20 - May 20):

Messages, short journeys seem fraught with confusion. Best to maintain individuality. New ideas work better than the old. Stress versatility, independence and originality.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20):

Overcome tendency toward carelessness with cash. Speculative ventures are inadvisable. Stick with the tried and true. Hunch this afternoon helps solve dilemma. Follow through.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22):

Study TAURUS message. Be sure you understand format, instructions. Ask questions, obtain answers. Accent on personality, appearance. One who requests favor may have ulterior motive.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22):

Realize that you do require privacy. Don't tell all you know. Be discreet. Not wise to oppose groups, clubs, people who band together to obtain petition. Be diplomatic. Don't get involved.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22):

Be aware of possessions. Insist on your fair share of credit. Some may try to flatter you out of what you own. Some change is due. Works in your favor. Keep eye on valuables.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22):

Domestic adjustment indicated. Check offers apparent bargains. You tend to be moody. Honor in form of promotion could be on horizon. Know this—maintain poise.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21):

Promote distant interests. Look ahead—know that your efforts Accept invitation for appearance which guarantees substantial audience.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21):

Could be power day. You deal with money and gain added authority. Some at the top depend upon your judgement. Time is on your side. You emerge a winner.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19):

Martial affairs demand attention. Accent is on your ability to promote mutual interests. Project can be successfully completed Day to finish rather than to begin.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18):

Avoid fatigue. Remember resolutions concerning work, diet, exercise and recreation. Outline program and adhere to it. Your determination is put to a test.

PISCES (Feb. 19 - March 20):

Loved ones, young persons bring you questions, problems. Be analytical. Analyze. Find out why. Avoid jumping to conclusions. Tonight be with one who attracts you.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY

you are a natural executive, but you prefer working behind the scenes. Added responsibility due along with greater rewards. If single, marriage is on horizon.

GENERAL TENDENCIES:

Cycle high for CANCER, LEO. Special word to ARIES: finish what you start.

WHY WE SAY

PETERED OUT

GOLD MINING: When something comes to a slow end, it is said to "peter out." The expression started with early gold mining where salt peter was used in blasting. When the gold supply dwindled, each blast produced less gold, thus petering out.

Rick Du Brow

Resurgence of Comedy Teams

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The thing I personally prefer in show business entertainment — whether movies, television or stage — is amusement. Puerile messages by juveniles who have just discovered that the world is not perfect bore me. I sympathize with the producer who suggested that if he wanted a message, he would send for Western Union.

Impact Noted
As an admirer of comedians, teams: the Marx Brothers, the impact of Rowan and Martin, and the Smothers Brothers, in an area other than that of their racy and often controversial television humor. Forget their messages for a moment. For what they have done for show business is to help bring back one of the most enjoyable types of acts the entertainment world can offer: The comedy team.

Years ago, show business was flooded with great comedy teams: the Marx Brothers, Laurel and Hardy, the Ritz Brothers, Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis, Abbott and Costello, George Burns and Gracie Allen, and on and on. In recent years, though many minor teams appeared, very few top ones emerged to blockbust status.

Perhaps the single major exception in television was the partnership of Jackie Gleason and Art Carney, who — for years now — have proved themselves to be one of the truly great comedy teams in the history of American show business. The problem, however, is that they are only together now and then on just how professional a real Gleason's series. And whenpro can be.

Timely Quotes

They tried to play it by ear and they were tone deaf.

—John J. DeLury, president of Uniformed Sanitation-men's Association, on why New York City was caught unprepared by the big snow of '69.

It is much wiser to spend $6,000 to help a youth study his way through college than to spend hundreds of thousands of dollars for welfare payments to him and his family for the rest of their lives.

—Earl L. Vessup, City University of New York student, on a proposed budget cutback.

Every American must know that he has a chance, if he has the ability, to get a piece of the action.

—President Nixon on equal opportunity.

I am ready to meet him anywhere, any time, and I won't quarrel about procedure, agenda or the shape of the table.

—Israeli Premier Levi Eshkol, offering to meet Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

Despite the stubbornness of the other side, we are willing to continue discussions with them. How long, I don't know.

—Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky of South Viet Nam.

History selects one man for a specific purpose, such as Columbus or Charles Lindbergh, and so you have been selected.

—German Chancellor Kurt Kiesinger to astronaut Frank Borman.

I am frequently asked why we cannot land a man in New York at 5 p.m. on a Friday afternoon if we know enough to land a man on the moon. The answer is that we know enough, but we have invested 24 billion getting to the moon and only 1½ billion in air traffic control and navigation facilities since the Wright Brothers' flight.

School Aid Cut Protests

Rhinebeck: Operation Letters

By LYNN MULVANEY

RHINEBECK—“A massive letter-writing affair” on the part of Rhinebeck School District residents, who wish to help the school board convey their fiscal wishes to the State Education Department was called for by District Principal Russell Steeves Monday night.

The board also set a date of April 10 for an open general informational meeting on budgetary and other matters. Hans Boehm, board member, suggested that the public be informed in advance concerning what to expect in the way of a school budget and “give advance information on our thinking.”

In recent years the school board has seen plagued with budgetary problems which resulted in the imposition of a contingency budget.

Boehm suggested that the meeting “will provide opportunity to do away with the annual complaints.”

Steeves asked the public write legislators and the state education department regarding possible reduction in school aid.

He said that under Gov. Rockefeller's current proposals the school district would receive $100,000 less. He advocated that state aid per pupil be increased from $760 to $800 which would increase the Rhinebeck school system's aid by $8,492 for a total of $773,286.73.

$900 More Realistic

“Let's take an active interest in it,” he added, “$900 would be a more realistic figure.”

Board member John Grimm said he didn't feel it mattered whether or not he paid $100 more state income tax or $100 more property tax, but his main concern was that the board know “what the state aid score is” early in the year in order to figure its budget.

He suggested that as a “practical measure” the school's fiscal year coincide with the state's so that “educational finances do not become a political issue each year.”

Board President Robert Asher suggested that Steeves write more letters to the state with financial data to back them up. Steeves in turn asked Boehm for the Rhinebeck Citizen's Committee's cooperation in the effort.

Steeves also set about to correct what he called two “impressions” in the community which he wished to clarify. The first was the school board had $42,000 to spend in connection with a Title I program. He explained that one half of that money is allocated for the New York City School known as the Astor Home at Rhinebeck. He said that Rhinebeck School system's share of Title I money was $16,000 and that it had a $16,000 program in which to utilize it.

Steeves also took exception to the publishing in recent weeks of a report of the Rhinebeck Citizen's Committee in which school district finances were discussed.

Labeled Unethical

Asher called the publishing “irresponsible and unethical.” It was pointed out that the report was not adopted by the Citizen's Committee which merely received the recommendation of its school survey committee.

At the time the report was published in several newspapers The Freeman pointed out that the Citizen's Committee cautioned that the report employed some “out-of-date” figures and that the committee wished this to be taken into consideration in evaluating the content.

It was pointed out by school officials last night that all current figures are available and it was suggested further that the citizens consider the possibility of going over such reports in the future with members of the school board.

School officials made the suggestion “especially because the school board has worked so hard to cement relations with the citizens committee,” saying, “We would be glad to help out with more pertinent answers instead of vague statements.”

Other Business

In other business the board agreed to budget, in the future, an item for a school handbook to be used by seventh graders and newcomers to the school. In the interim the school's general organization has agreed to finance the cost of $275 for the first year. It is expected that the cost will be $125 to $150 in subsequent years.

Appointment of Linda Dylewski, an area resident, to the post of third grade teacher was approved, as was transportation for several children to St. Christopher's School in Red Hook.

Discussion was held and tabled concerning possible sale of a $1,974 milling machine purchased in 1962. The board also authorized the advertising of bids for the sale of a used wood lathe.

A new motor vehicle law, effective April 1, requiring a three-hour safety education course was also considered in that the school system may if it wishes provide for such a course. No action was taken.

Ike Weathering the Latest, Doctors Plan Careful Watch

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, his surgery a success so far, will be watched “especially carefully” the next two weeks, according to his doctors at Walter Reed Army Medical Center.

The next of the two-day medical bulletins was expected later.

The gallant old soldier apparently was weathering the latest in a long series of serious illnesses which have stricken him the last 15 years—but not conquered him. He sipped water and rested comfortably.

‘Only Time Will Tell’

“Only time will tell,” Walter Reed's Brig. Gen. Frederick H. Hughes, commanding general of Walter Reed, said in the briefing late Monday when asked what effect Sunday night's operation for obstruction of the intestinal tract would have on Eisenhower's tired heart. But he said, “We consider the operation a success at this point.”

At the time the latest illness appeared Saturday, Eisenhower, 78, already had been in Walter Reed for 10 months for convalescence from his fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh heart attacks. The sprawling medical complex lies a few miles to the north of the White House, which Eisenhower occupied at the time of his first heart attack in September 1955.

Nixon Kept Informed

In Europe, President Nixon, who had stood by as vice medical statement on Truman would be issued about 5 p.m. EST today.

Truman's daughter, Margaret Truman Daniel, visited her father Monday and reported “He is just fine and ready to go home.”

Doctors would not say how long Truman, who will be 85 May 8, will be kept at the hospital.

Truman spends most of his time in his private room on the sixth floor of the large facility reading and watching television. Mrs. Truman has been with him most of the time.

Children Hacked to Death

Gruesome Find After a Fire

SCHOHARIE, N.Y. (AP)—A fire started when paper bags in a kitchen closet were lit left a home a shell early Monday and burned almost beyond recognition the bodies of three children inside who had been hacked to death in bed.

The bodies of Jeffrey, 3, Joanne, 5, and James Cooper Jr., 8, were recovered from the basement of the rambling white frame house in the nearby hamlet of Watsonville when the smoldering shell cooled just before dawn.

Autopsies were scheduled for Monday night at Cobleskill Community Hospital.

The children's mother was charged with the slayings. Schoharie County Sheriff Claude Van Wie said Mrs. Glenda Ellen Cooper, 26, told police shortly before her arrest the children were killed “to keep them from suffering.” She did not elaborate.

Mrs. Cooper was taken to a hospital for treatment of superficial wrist wounds before her arrest.

She waived a preliminary hearing at her arraignment on murder charges before Esplanance Town Justice Archie Montanye and was ordered held without bail in county jail, pending grand jury action.

Mrs. Cooper's husband, James, Van Wie said, works a night shift as a welder for General Electric Co. in Schenectady. Sunday was one of the nights he regularly spends with his parents in Schenectady to save commuting time, the sheriff said.

Van Wie said the woman—who neighbors said was seldom seen outside the house—told him and other officers she set the fire and then went upstairs to the children's bedroom.

He said she told him she cut her left wrist with a razor blade, then lay down on a bed “to die with them” but was driven from the house by the intense heat.

Neighbors summoned firefighters, but an explosion, that Middleburgh Fire Chief William Southard said shattered windows, blew glass across the rural road and engulfed the ground level, reduced the house to ruins.

The frame of the bed in which the children died caught on an upright fragment of the two-story home as it crashed through the fire-eaten floor. When rescuers were able to approach the ruins, they found the bed hanging, with the hatchet imbedded in it.

Truman Impatient Patient

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Former President Harry S. Truman had recovered satisfactorily today from a flu attack but he was becoming an impatient patient.

Doctors kept Truman, 84, in Research Hospital for “routine tests”—his first physical check-up in three years. The doctors said he had recovered from the flu attack that caused his hospitalization.

The hospital said the next president during the illnesses of Eisenhower's presidency, was kept fully informed of his old chief's condition.

Mamie Eisenhower was at her husband's bedside. Their only son, Ambassador-designate John Eisenhower, and his wife arrived Sunday.

The blockage in the lower intestine was reported caused by tough scar tissue which was binding over the tract. Doctors said they could not tell whether the scar tissue was from a 1923 appendectomy or a 1966 gall bladder operation.

If unchecked, the acute intestinal operation would have been fatal, medical authorities said. In such a case, the patient's abdomen becomes distended and vomiting begins. The body's chemical balance is upset because of the loss of intestinal juices. In addition, the overly distended bowel can rupture or spread poison through the body.

Do these cars bring back memories? (You don't have to answer out loud.) They do to us . . . fond memories and proud ones. We applied the gravel roof to the then Fuller Shirt Factory on Pine Grove Avenue in Kingston, in 1947 . . . about twenty-two years ago. This was a twenty-year specification roof, and as far as we know it's still in good condition.

In 1950 we installed the brick siding on all sections of the building, which previously had had wood siding. This, we believe, is one of the outstanding siding jobs in the area, especially as far as height is concerned. It hasn't embarrassed us yet, and we think it's probably one of the better looking insulated brick siding jobs in the area.

Did you read this ad or are you still mulling over those 1947 memories? Well, when you finish, will you keep us in mind . . . roofing and siding . . . Smith Parish.
